Geotechnical and Geophysical Site Characterization collects the papers presented at the Third International Conference on Site Characterization (ISC 3) that took place in Taipei from April 1-4, 2008. The subjects covered include new developments in mechanical in-situ testing and interpretation techniques, statistical analysis of test data, geo Australia's Age of Iron started in the 1840s when the first attempts were made to reduce Australia's dependence on Britain for imported iron. Australian iron ore was abundant and of good quality, but Australia still had difficulties in competing with cheaper imports. Ian Jack and Aedeen Cremin analyze Australia's efforts to smelt iron efficiently and examine in detail the physical remains of those pioneering ventures. Based on a decade of archival research and field work, the study brings together little-known source material and places it in broad historical context.

This book articulates the complexities inherent in higher education 's multi-faceted response to the forces of mediation—or how institutions change when their social communication gets mediated by technology—and introduces a novel perspective to comprehend them in a systematic way. By drawing on archival analysis and six organizational case studies, the author empirically traces the emergence of a cyber-cultural institution within higher education. As these case studies demonstrate, this new institutional logic requires creativity, individual recognition, and an underlying platform powered by cyber technologies and digitization of content. Using an analytical lens, this cyber-cultural perspective answers many questions about why faculty refuse to adopt online education, why students struggle with mediated teaching, and what possibly could be done to take online education to its next level.

"Living in a city prevents some children from seeing our farms. This book brings some of the big machines used every day on farms. A fun way for kids to learn how big farm machines get the work done while building literacy skills"--

Day 9 at Wooreen paints a vivid picture of the Wooreen State School kidnapping of 1977. Written through the teacher's eyes, this gripping tale gives insight into the trauma experienced by the victims, the timely heroism of logging truck driver Robin Smith, and the bravery and commitment of the Victorian Police Force. The state school kidnappings of the 1970s shocked Australia. They stand as two of Victoria's most audacious and notorious crimes. The author celebrates the healing that is possible from such pain and torment, giving the reader renewed hope in a troubled world.

Domestic abuse is a national emergency: one in four Australian women has experienced violence from a man she was intimate with. But too often we ask the wrong question: why didn ' t she leave? We should be asking: why did he do it? Investigative journalist Jess Hill puts perpetrators – and the systems that enable them – in the spotlight. See What You Made Me Do is a deep dive into the abuse so many women and children experience – abuse that is often reinforced by the justice system they trust to protect them. Critically, it shows that we can drastically reduce domestic violence – not in generations to come, but today. Combining forensic research with riveting storytelling, See What You Made Me Do radically rethinks how to confront the national crisis of fear and abuse in our homes. ‘ A shattering book: clear-headed and meticulous, driving always at the truth ’ —Helen Garner ‘ One Australian a week is dying as a result of domestic abuse. If that was terrorism, we ‘ d have armed guards on every corner. ’ —Jimmy Barnes ‘ Confronting in its honesty this book challenges you to keep reading no matter how uncomfortable it is to face the profound rawness of people ‘ s stories. Such a well written book and so well researched. See What You Made Me Do sheds new light on this complex issue that affects so many of us. ’ —Rosie Batty Never Too Old To Exercise "Get All The Support And Guidance You Need To Be A Success At Getting In Shape No Matter Your Age!"This Book Is One Of The Most Valuable Resources In The World When It Comes To Guiding You Towards Health & Longevity! Is the fact that you would like to get into shape no matter your age but just don't know how making your life difficult... maybe even miserable? First, you are NOT alone! It may seem like it sometimes, but not knowing how to get started with a workout program is far more common than you ' d think.

Glenn Capelli challenges us to ponder some of life's significant issues in a book filled with quirky anecdotes, lessons, humour, wit, wisdom and uncommon sense on every page. Insightful stories from a gifted explorer as he bumps into life.

Very few inhabitants of the Sardinian village of Abacrasta survive to old age. By tradition they are fated to take their own lives, with belts or ropes, having heard the Voice ('Ajo! Get ready, your time has come!') telling them to prepare to die. This novel tells the stories of the Abacraistians, of their lives and remarkable deaths, in a series of tales.
